Happy New Year!

Welcome 2024, As we start out this new year, I would like to say Thank you to the 2023 Board of Directors for all your service and making 2023 a great year.

Vice Commodore – Darla Allison

Treasurer – Lori Plump

Secretary – Jean Ward

Director 1 – Mary Ann Simard

Director 2 – Carol Hunt

2023 was a busy year with Maritime and Social events. We finished off the year with two big events for the year. The first one was the Commodores Ball on December 2nd at the Italian American club. This was a great event with a lot of dancing, eating, and socializing. Pictures were sent to everyone that attended. We will have them posted on the website shortly for everyone that was not able to attend to view.

The second event was our Caroling on the Canals and club picnic. Unfortunately, we had to change the date at the last minute due to the weather and some people couldn't make the new date. The weather was much nicer on the 23rd for the event. We had 16 boats participate and a huge turnout from the residents along the canals. I don't have official numbers, but I have been told this was the largest turnout for boats and residents watching and waving.

After the Caroling, we gathered at Hershel King Park for some great food and socializing.

Now onto 2024. I would like to introduce the new 2024 Board of Directors, well it isn't much different than the 2023 board, some shifting of positions and a newer member to the Board.

We all look forward to fulfilling our roles this year and guiding this club to have another fun-filled year with social and maritime events. I am honored to lead this board and club and look forward to seeing everyone at the maritime and social events.

We are starting off the year with our planning meetings. These are open to all the club members; we encourage you to try to make at least one of them. These are the meetings that we use to plan social and maritime events for the year. There are several ways to sign up for these planning meetings and all the events that have been planned.

The events are listed on the Website welcome page with a link to sign up. They are also listed on the club calendar with a link in the description. And lastly, they will now appear in the newsletter so as you're reading this you can click on the link, sign up for an event, and then continue to read on. If you have not responded yet, please do, that way we can make sure the church is set up properly for the number of people attending.

Rear Commodore — Rich Van Dort
Rear-Commodore@FlaglerBeachYachtClub.com

Welcome to 2024 and thank you for electing me as your new Rear Commodore for 2024!

I'm looking forward in working with everyone this year as long as, Nick our past Rear Commodore tells me who everyone is . I always leaned on Nick because he is a foundation of knowledge of our current members. I will strive to get to meet one and all throughout the year.

As Rear Commodore I will strive to build our membership to its capacity. As most of you know that is my primary job, however I am excited to mention that the board and I are working on some new and exciting programs to enhance our membership, provide a revenue stream for the club and acknowledge our past members in good standing from the “early years”.

For those who do not know it or haven't visited our website in awhile FYBC was established in 1992.

“Our First Organizational Meeting was held at the Ebb Tide (present Dockside parking lot) on April 7, 1992. Twenty-three boaters attended the meeting. A By-Law committee was assembled that evening.

FYBC's maiden voyage was on May 3, 1992. Eight boats and twenty-eight members participated in an Intracoastal cruise to St. Augustine. By the July meeting in 1992 FBYC had fifty members.”

Currently Nick reports to me that:

He received one new application in December.

Members:	Lifetime	8
	Honorary	2
	Regular:	110
	Total:	120

Applications to date: 15

Total: (Assuming Applicants are converted) 135

To remind everyone that the recent changes in our Bylaws that:

3.02 The club is limited to 150 members. Honorary members and Lifetime members will not count towards the total.

Rear Commodore — Rich Van Dort
Rear-Commodore@FlaglerBeachYachtClub.com

Since 150 Regular members is our ultimate goal, we have quite a few openings available to us. So, let's all start recruiting for 2024!

We have a strong club consisting of a wonderful mix of people, many who Lynn and I consider wonderful friends in and outside the club. Our founders and previous boards (including last years) have done an excellent job of growing the club and providing an atmosphere of friendliness and a club that enjoys to "Have Fun". As a lot of us are moving on in our years, a club like ours has become an important part of life. I know it is for Lynn and me.

I look forward to our first meeting of 2024 on Thursday January 18th.

Happy New Year to all!

Guide to Boating in the Winter

The balmy summer days have come to their inevitable end. A farewell to the warm season means saying goodbye to sipping cocktails on the deck in summer clothing and swimming in warm waters without a care. Does it also mean the end of boating for the year?

The quick answer is — not at all! You may have to trade in the sun's warmth on your face for a brisk, bracing breeze and the swimming gear for cozier clothing, but winter boating is both beautiful and rewarding in its own right. So get ready to exchange the warm summer glow for a clear winter day and climb aboard.

Let's look at some boating tips for the winter and touch on a bit of winter boating safety to help you ensure you're safe and warm enough to truly enjoy the experience.

Fleet-Captain@FlaglerBeachYachtClub.com

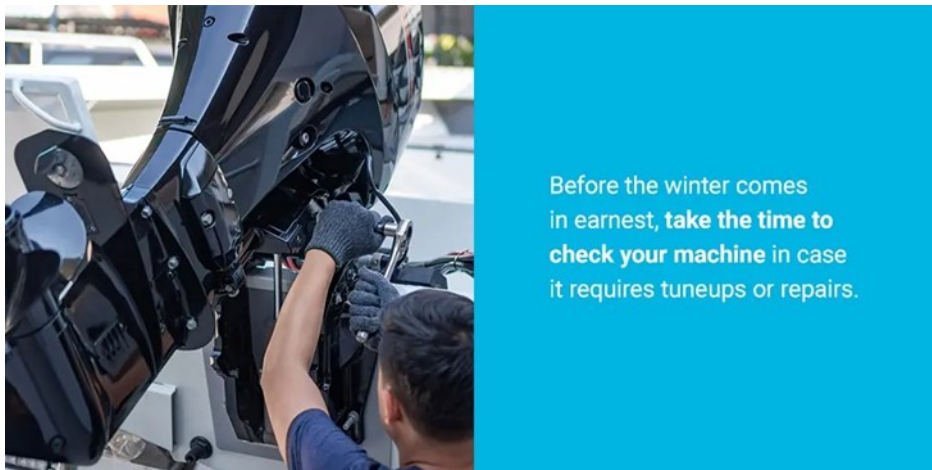

TIPS FOR SAFE BOATING IN THE WINTER

1. KEEP YOUR BATTERY CHARGED

As the temperature drops, batteries of all descriptions have a harder time working as they require extra power to get up and running in the colder months. A faulty battery is the last thing you need when you're out on the water, so it's best not to leave your battery alone when you're not using it. Instead, you can top up the charge in several ways:

- After a day on the water, disconnect your battery and take it home so you can keep it charged there.
- Buy a trickle charger: Trickle chargers supply a constant charge to batteries, whether they're fully charged or not. If you're just boating on weekends, the trickle charger won't allow any ebb in your battery's charge.
- Install a solar panel: Much like a trickle charger, a solar panel will use sunlight to top up any charge deficit in your battery.
- Check your Engine:

2. CHECK THE ENGINE BEFORE THE COLD COMES ON

Before the winter comes in earnest, take the time to check your machine in case it requires tuneups or repairs.

Fleet Captain – Steven Plump
Fleet-Captain@FlaglerBeachYachtClub.com

Your engine is under increased pressure in winter temperatures — the colder it becomes, the more difficult it is for your motor to start. Before the winter comes in earnest, take the time to check your machine in case it requires tuneups or repairs. Ensure you also top up on antifreeze and coolant to be safe.

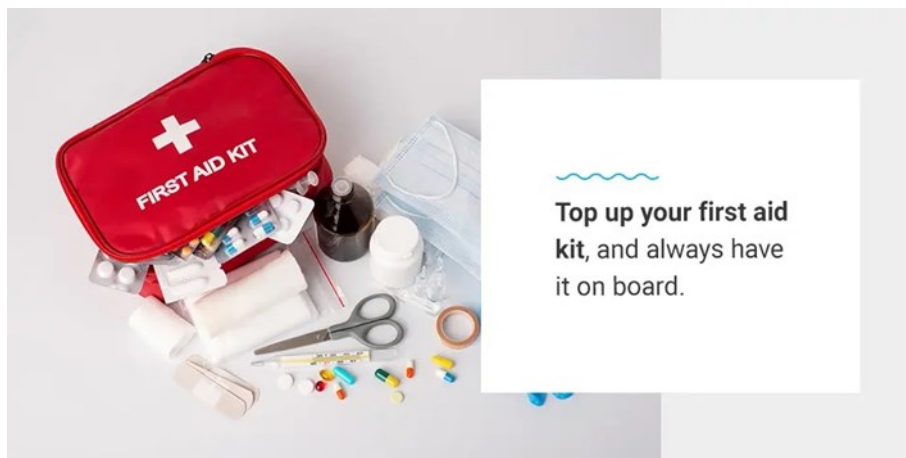

2 CHANGE YOUR OIL

Consider draining your oil and replacing it with a winter-friendly solution. Using a formula intended for colder weather can help ensure your engine’s parts remain properly lubricated despite the drop in temperature.

3. CHECK THE PORTHOLES, DRAINS AND SEACOCKS

Do your first check for leaks as winter boating begins and additional periodic inspections throughout the season. Ensure all the plugs are in place and repair or replace any damaged seals.

4. CONDUCT GENERAL SAFETY CHECKS

Fleet Captain – Steven Plump
Fleet-Captain@FlaglerBeachYachtClub.com

Ensure all your safety equipment is in good working order, including your life jackets. Some docks may maintain shorter hours or close in the winter, so fill up on gas before you set out. Top up your first aid kit, and always have it on board. Take special care to make sure the following equipment is available and working:

- Anchor
- Fire extinguisher
- Tow Lines
- Air Horn
- Flares

You'll also want to ensure you have plenty of blankets, fresh, warm clothes and other essential items you might need in case you have to remain on board for longer than expected.

5. CHECK YOUR PAPERWORK

You may already be in the habit of checking your registration at the beginning of a new season. If not, you'll want to double-check that your registration papers are in order and check with your insurance company to ensure you're adequately insured for the winter.

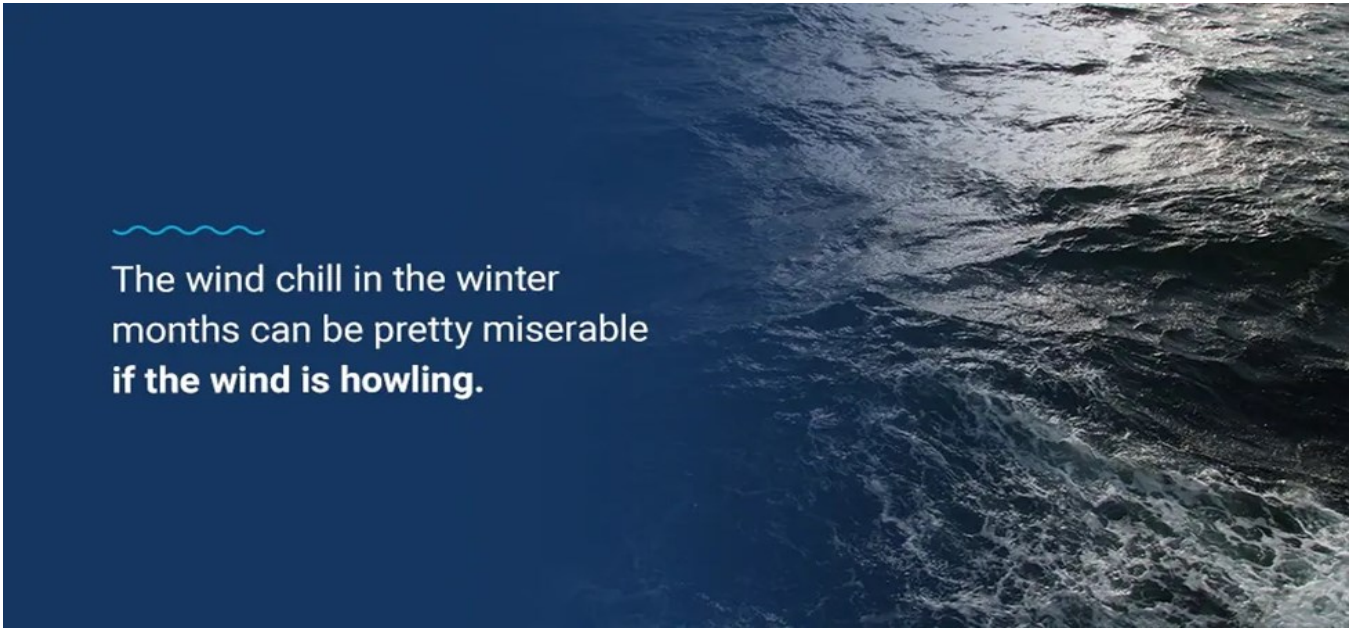

6. KEEP A VHF RADIO ON BOARD

If you don't already have one, consider purchasing one of these handy two-way radios. They transmit over a long range and don't require much power. If you get into trouble on the water, you can send out an emergency distress call on channel 16.

Fleet Captain – Steven Plump

Fleet-Captain@FlaglerBeachYachtClub.com

7. WATCH THE WEATHER

The wind chill in the winter months can be pretty miserable if the wind is howling.

Inclement weather can be a serious concern. While light winds are enjoyable for winter boating, the wind chill in the winter months can be pretty miserable if the wind is howling. It's also easy to forget about the dangers of sunburn when it's cold. Just because you don't feel the heat on your skin the same way doesn't mean you aren't burning. The sun's glare off of flat winter water can actually enhance the sun's effects, so keep your sunglasses and sunscreen close at hand. Finally, if there's any chance of the weather turning, it's usually best to save your boating trip for another day.

8. PLAN SHORTER TRIPS

Daylight hours are limited in winter, so you may have to adjust the length of your voyages to avoid coming home in the cold and dark. If you're a first-time off-season boater, try sticking to daylight voyages. Your speeds will generally be lower and the winds lighter, so plan trips carefully. If you'd like to be out on the water a bit longer, leave earlier so you can still come back to port in the daylight.

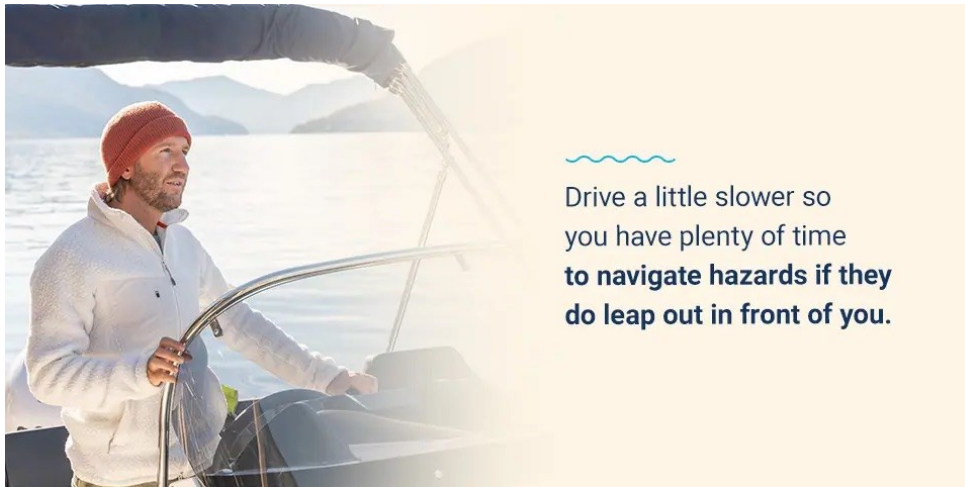

Fleet Captain — Steven Plump
Fleet-Captain@FlaglerBeachYachtClub.com

9. KEEP GOOD COMPANY

Don't go out alone on the waters in the winter months. Use the buddy system for safety, as a boating companion will be there to help you if you need it. It's also more enjoyable to share your boating experience with others. Good company and extra safety all in one — what could be better?

Even with company, you should let a third party know where you're going and how long you plan to be out on the water. If you need help or fall out of communication for any reason, this person will know to expect you and be able to take action if you don't return on time.

10. WATCH FOR HAZARDS

 Drive a little slower so you have plenty of time to navigate hazards if they do leap out in front of you.

Water levels are often lower in winter, bringing hazards closer to the surface. Regardless of how well you know the water, it's essential to keep an eye out for risks that may not have been visible before the off-season. Ask your boating buddy to help with keeping watch. Drive a little slower so you have plenty of time to navigate hazards if they do leap out in front of you.

Fleet Captain – Steven Plump

Fleet-Captain@FlaglerBeachYachtClub.com

11. STAY PREPARED

No one wants to go overboard into frigid waters, but as we know, sometimes accidents happen when boating. Ensure you've taken every precaution in case someone does go overboard:

Be aware of the signs of hypothermia and how you can help.

Always err on the side of caution and keep warm clothes, energy-replenishing food and heat sources on board.

While you may want to warm them up as quickly as possible, it's safest to bring their body back to normal temperature slowly.

WHAT TO WEAR ON A WINTER BOAT RIDE

What to wear on a boat when it's cold might seem obvious, but there's more to it than just warm clothing. Of course, you want to stay warm and cozy, but your winter boating wardrobe must also be helpful and comfortable. You and your fellow boaters must be as safe and dry as possible, so here's a quick breakdown of some ideal winter boating attire.

You'll want to protect your head and neck from the cold and a woolen hat is a great place to start. Be sure you buy one long enough to cover your ears and protect them from cold winds. A ski mask is another option that will also protect your neck, but if that isn't your style, a spare wool scarf will do wonders to keep you warm and protected against moisture.

Fleet Captain – Steven PlumpFleet-Captain@FlaglerBeachYachtClub.com

When it comes to your body, have one word on your mind — layers. When you think you have enough layers, add another. Hand and footwear are essential on a boat in the winter. Having cold extremities can be unpleasant at best and dangerous at worst. Add a pair of warm socks. Keeping your hands warm can be trickier, as most boaters need to be able to use their fingers and thick gloves limit your mobility. If you're relaxing on the boat, there's nothing quite as satisfying as a pair of soft mittens. However, fingerless gloves could provide the perfect happy medium if you need to be a little more dexterous.

If you're considering a leisurely sightseeing trip, your basic boating clothes should do the trick. However, it's very tempting to open the throttle out on the quiet water when it's safe to do so. Consider goggles instead of sunglasses for extra wind protection.

People often associate boating with the warmer parts of the year, but there are multiple benefits to spending time on the water in winter. The experience isn't quite the same — but that's half the fun!

Even if you're boating in a familiar place, when you take to the water in winter you get to see all the sights in a different light. You'll have the chance to discover beauty and tranquility you didn't even know existed.

Take your sense of adventure with you, use your imagination and enjoy some experiences you'd never imagine in the summer. You can spend quality time with your loved ones, have a picnic on the water, try fishing, enjoy nature and relax in your boat. However you choose to boat in the winter, you'll find something you love about the experience.

Hello FBYC! I am honored to assume the role as your treasurer again for 2024. Having this role has allowed me to get to know many of you better and I feel very blessed to have made so many good friends!

We ended 2023 with all bills paid and approximately the same amount in the checking account as we had in 2022. So many of you used Zelle in 2023 to pay for club events. I hope that this has made it a little bit easier to send in funds. For those who are newer to our club, you can pay the club directly by sending money to treasurer@flaglerbeachyachtclub.com. Of course, we will continue to accept checks made out to FBYC and cash.

I look forward to serving you throughout 2024. Please don't hesitate to reach out if you have any questions at all.
